MANSFIELD RUN DOWN BY AN AUTOMOBILE.

[illegible] Perhaps Fatally Injured.

[illegible] Carried To a Room Over [illegible] Drug Store And Wounds Dressed.

[illegible] morning a little before 8 o'clock [illegible] Mansfield was riding his bicycle up [illegible] and when at a point opposite [illegible] Hankins' pharmacy was run [illegible] by an automobile driven by H. W. [illegible] and seriously, perhaps fatally injured.

[illegible] Mansfield was dragged a few feet [illegible] picked up seemed fatally hurt [illegible] examination by Drs. Rawlings [illegible] who were hastily summoned, it is thought he is not seriously injured internally and his recovery [illegible].

The automobile was a touring car just [illegible] down from St. Augustine and [illegible] by H. W. House, of the St. Augustine Garage. The owner of the [illegible] Montgomery, of Oak Hill, [illegible] J. C. Williams, were in [illegible] at the time of the accident.

[illegible] facts in the case, as gathered [illegible] and as developed an [illegible] in the mayor's court, were [illegible] as follows:

[illegible] the touring car came [illegible] Volusia avenue and turned into [illegible] street at a moderate rate of [illegible] sounding the horn. Mansfield [illegible] Beach at a leisure pace [illegible] turned his head and [illegible] back.

[illegible] he looked ahead again his wheel [illegible] were in such close proximity [illegible] he, swerving and a "dodging [illegible] with the result that there [illegible] collision.

[illegible] seems to be to blame. The [illegible] which was not coming fast, turned [illegible] corner as is customary and sounded [illegible] horn. Mr. Mansfield was not riding [illegible], and but for some attraction of [illegible] or sound which collected his attention, causing him to look back at a critical moment, there was no reason for so serious a mix-up.

There have been several close calls for [illegible] this winter but this is the most serious so far. The extent of Mansfield's injuries cannot be definitely ascertained.

The automobile party was called at [illegible] before the Mayor's Court, and, after hearing the testimony of the driver of the car, the passengers, and a number of bystanders, all whom testified [illegible] to the facts as herewith [illegible], Mayor Green dismissed them as [illegible] blame could be attached to them for the accident.

Early Hour Wedding.

In the balmy hours of the morning as [illegible] sun was casting golden beams [illegible] the rippling [illegible] of the broad [illegible], a beautiful [illegible] was witnessed [illegible] limited number of friends of the [illegible] parties, W. H. Wright—[illegible] Lois Green.

[illegible] O. M. Bingham tied the nuptial [illegible] at the Bingham & Maley parlors [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Wright departed at [illegible] for a trip south, embarking in the [illegible] for Palm Beach.

They will take a little over the-sea [illegible] rail and in a few days return to [illegible], their chosen place of residence.

TENDERED A FAREWELL.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fickeisen, who, with their children, have been visiting for the past two months with Mrs. Fickeisen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shields, at their handsome winter home on Volusia avenue, were tendered a very pleasant farewell Monday evening by a number of their friends, which was in the nature of a complete surprise to Mrs. Fickeisen, which added greatly to the enjoyment of all participating.

During the early evening Mr. Fickeisen proposed a walk to Mrs. Fickeisen, who readily agreed, and, while they were out, some fifteen or twenty ladies and gentlemen gathered at the house. Mrs. Fickeisen, on her return to the house with her husband, thought these friends had merely gathered to bid them good bye, as they expected to leave the following morning, and she was more than ever surprised to find that, unknown to her, quite elaborate refreshments, cake, cream, punch, etc., had been prepared, and those present had come for the purpose of spending the evening with them. The gentlemen of the party amused themselves with cards, while the ladies enjoyed a very delightful social time together until the evening was well advanced.

Mr. and Mrs. Fickeisen would have preferred to have remained at Daytona until later, but Mr. Fickeisen was obliged to return to look after business interests. They departed this morning for their home at Pittsburg, Pa.

RACE NEWS RE-ECHOED.

Always go away from home to get your home news. The Terre Haute (Ind.) Tribune published the following story under great pictures of Bates and Strang as they raced about on the greatest speed course in the world:

"Hundreds of automobile enthusiasts who have been watching the auto races at Daytona beach, Florida, were treated to several novel speed contests between an automobile and aeroplane. The flying machine is the invention of Carl S. Bates, a Chicago boy, and was driven by him in many successful flights along the sand course.

"Bates built the machine, and, arriving unheralded at Daytona one day, unpacked it and promptly began sailing up and down the beach. A speed of fifty miles an hour was easy for the aeroplane, and a series of races between the Bates machine and a fast automobile driven by Louis Strang, the 'speed demon,' was arranged.

"The Bates aeroplane takes flight from a standing start, and, rising to a height of fifty or a hundred feet, skims gracefully through the air. It was easy for Strang to drive his car faster than fifty miles an hour, but the novelty of a race between these two twentieth century inventions was a source of great interest."

"NOW I'M HAPPY!"

—Donahey in Cleveland Plain Dealer.

NEWS FORCE WILL SCATTER.

After tomorrow the Daily News force will begin to scatter and before the summer ends the majority will have left the State.

Editor Fitzgerald will remain a while in Daytona, but before the summer ends he and his family will likely swing a circle North.

Superintendent Crouch and wife and Miss Crouch will likely make a late summer trip to New York.

Mrs. H. A. Bernard will remain at her Seabreeze home till nearly fall when she will go to the Carolina mountains.

C. S. Harris says he "has the habit" and may remain where he can hear the ocean roar all summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Demaree expect to spend their time in Virginia, Maryland and Delaware.

B. F. Pellett goes at once to Gainesville for a visit with his mother; beyond this his plans are not matured.

Alfred Z. Weeley, the dignified ad man, will likely stay near the coast as the sea air agrees with his health.

Geo. Ananias King, the funny man of the force, says he will start in the chicken business and proposes to sit on a setting of eggs, and fish for three weeks, bring his chicks up to the broiler stage and then sell out.

L. L. Wallace, the handsome young job man, will return to Wiscasset, Me., where there are various attractions.

Raymond Green, the office "Devil," the bright-eyed and rosy-cheeked little rascal, refuses point blank to be interviewed and no one is able to get a line on his contemplated movements.

Fairfax Ludlow is now in Georgia, as announced in Saturday's paper.

DeWolf shook the [illegible] from his shoes last week and is hunting a cooler clime.

Were you aware that the Daily News carried a force like this?

A MEETING AT ARMORY

Every loyal, wide-awake citizen of Daytona, who is solicitous for the future growth and prosperity of this city should come out to the Armory, Saturday night at eight o'clock, and talk with your fellows along lines looking toward the future entertainment and upbuilding of "Delightful Daytona."

"Delightful Daytona" "sounds good," to use the current vernacular. It is an alliterative appellation bestowed during the recent race carnival by Alex Schwalbach and that distinguished coterie of correspondents of the metropolitan press working with Messrs Morgan and Schwalbach, and Daytonians are not averse to the repeated and general use of the expression.

This meeting is in the line of making "Delightful Daytona" even more delightful so make a note of the time and place and be on hand promptly.

MAKE-UP OF PRESENT DAY "FEMININITY"

A Reason Suggested Why Corns, Laryngitis, Baldness, etc., Are So Common.

"ALGY" OUT WITH A "DREAM."

A fashion note describes the modern stylish woman something like this: "Her waist begins just below her neck; her hips are planed off even with the rest of her body. She is buttoned up the back (perhaps by a husband thinking language too vigorous for the Daily News columns) and around her neck she wears a section of barbed wire covered with lace and such like jim-cracks.

"On her head she wears, if complexion demands it, a blond haystack of hair, a Mary Garden coiffure, with whole litters of rodents snugly nestled within, and surmounting all this a superstructure and dome with rings which make the inhabitants of Saturn green with jealousy. Do not mistake it for Carl Bates' dirigible aeroplane for it is an Anna Held sailor.

"She is swathed in a gown like an Indian papoose and on the ends of her feet are plain of patent leather. She walks on stilt-like heels with the expertness of a tight rope dancer. She throws forward her thoracic anatomy in walking and in order to maintain her equilibrium bulges correspondingly posteriorly."

It is quite the correct caper in top-notch swelldom to wear an enormous ring on the little finger of either hand. This ring usually carries a stone, preferably a jade or lapis lazuli about the size of an Ohio valley buckeye. This fad will encourage an abnormal growth of the little finger but what's the difference so long as it's the style? It may become popular, if they become painful to wear on the fingers for girls to use sandals and toeless hosiery and transfer these lapis lazuli and jade ornaments to the toes. No telling.

Accompanying this "dream" down Beach street may be observed Algernon. "Algy" himself isn't to be snickered at for his make-up. He is diked out in all the colors of a chorus girl at a spring opening. A gay white college hat sits jauntily back over the crown of his cocoanut, and his freshly shampooed curls are parted in the middle like an Englishman's name. He wears a broad, seductive smile.

He wears a dog-eared collar which stands out like a Fair Haven Sharpie coming wing and wing before the wind. An immaculate white neck-tie flutters over his shirt front like a flag of truce while a double-breasted vest, studded with ten-thousand diminutive shamrock figures in deep green, is framed in by a checkered suit so loud you can hear it coming from the Prince George to South bridge, way above the popping of the Red Devil as the R. D. turns the corner by W. C. Smith's letter dispensary.

His trousers are cut bow-legged on the outside and rolled up at the bottom so as to exhibit his barber-pole socks; twisted-toed sorrel shoes No. 9 with a whole coil of haberdashery in shoe-strings tie him out at the ground end while a number six hat is too big for the other end.

A delicately perfumed linen handkerchief with Algy's initial is set to music in an upper-story coat pocket, and all this is free, too; you don't have to pay a red penny to ogle the pair as they move jauntily by.

O, girls, why will you rig yourselves out so ridiculously? And, why, O, why pair off with such hair-brained nincompoops as Algernon?

Madam, that laryngitis you have is caused from the choker collars you've been wearing. It's good they're on the wane. Those stiff, high, unyielding collars have injured your throat and added to your nervousness. It isn't the throat specialist and the osteopath you need; it's common-sense collars, fresh air, sunshine, out door recreation.

No, my lady, it isn't the state of the atmosphere or inherited weakness of the ankle that is torturing your feet. French heels, standing you on your toes, have sprouted corns and started bunions and your feet are threatened with fallen arches, a foot uglier than that of a monkey. You don't need a chiropodist; all you want is to get back to nature's pattern.

You're no "spring chicken," but it isn't age that is making your hair fall out. It is "ratting," "puffing," "marceling," etc.

The weight and warmth in this mild climate of this enormous artificial head-gear has a fatal effect on the scalp, and if the fashion holds much longer there wont be enough of the natural article left to hitch the haystack of artificial goods on to.

The goddess of fashion is cruel and remorseless, and her faithful devotees are staggering about in torturing foot gear, strangulation collars, straight facing that invites tumors, with top pieces which look like walking flower gardens or an approaching ostrich farm. But with all these freaks and fancies she is, and always will be, "woman, lovely woman." She will always be loved and courted, high heel or no heel, big sleeve or no sleeve, big hat or bare-head, strangulation collar or decollete. Whenever the "dream" sweeps gracefully down street "Algy" will be there to whisper the silly little nothings as he has since Adam told Eve she was the "peachiest" girl in the Garden.

BROTHERHOOD OF GRAFTERS

Some of you tourists, who have been separated recently from stacks of your good coin have an idea that Florida, as a tourist squeezer, is in a class all by herself.

This shows your unsophisticatedness; you haven't been "all over." Going to the Seattle exposition, are you? They will put you wise.

Try California one season and you'll think better of Florida, financially, meteorologically and otherwise.

In confirmation of this statement here is a closing paragraph from a man too well known in Daytona to permit the use of his name. His name has never been proposed for membership in Mr. Roosevelt's "Ananias Club." He is speaking of the tourist crop:

"It is usually the best crop we have in the southern part of the State and while Florida may be well organized to gather their annual crop, I am sure there is no better organization anywhere in the world to separate the tourist from his money than in Southern California. It is rather trying on the Californian to be taken for an Eastern tourist, and have the hotel rates and everything else doubled so that it is a constant argument to convince the proprietors than he belongs in this country, and is entitled to the consideration due a member of the "Brotherhood of Grafters."

Will Spend the Winters Here.

E. M. Holman, who recently sold his residence property, on Fairview avenue, will leave for the North, accompanied by Mrs. Holman, in about a week. Mrs. Holman will go to Worcester, Mass., their former home, and Mr. Holman to Dunkirk, N. Y., where he expects to embark in the jewelry business, in which he has had over twenty years experience. Albert Holman will also go North about April 1st to attend the Philadelphia College. Mr. Holman will still call Daytona his home and make a practice of spending his winters here. He intends to build a fine, modern house boat and spend much of his time here in cruising, but will keep up apartments somewhere in the city to which he can return at any time. Mr. Holman came here broken down in health from overwork, but the balmy climate coupled with an active outdoor life has put him on his feet, and he now feels equal to taking up business again.

High School Still In Lead.

Looks As If Impossible To Keep Boys And Girls From Getting The Music Box.

The big racers have appeared in sight down the home stretch and there're bunched. At this distance they promise a neck and neck finish, that is, many of them. The Daytona High School has too great a lead for anybody to hope to overtake her. She is in a class all by herself and will pass the judge's stand before the others are in speaking distance.

It is very interesting to watch the bursts of speed exhibited first by one contestant, then by another. Last week the Elks were speeding by everything as if their course had been lubricated for their especial benefit.

This week the Rifles are shooting by everything but the High School, and unless the Elks are playing a waiting game and are massing a big stack of coupons punched through the thousand mark, ready to run in at the very last, the gun-bearers in orange and drab uniform will finish second in the big derby.

The pyrotechnic display touched off in yesterday's Daily News by the Kingston school infused new life and interest into the contest, but unhappily for the Kingston boys and girls they did not follow up with another record breaker today; had they done so they would have changed the program at Wilmans opera house from vaudeville to high tragedy.

As it is Wilmans may finish in the lighter role.

The announcement that Company K has passed the 2,000,000 mark will probably come as a surprise, even to some of the Rifle boys themselves.

Well, it is an interesting finish and more pianos are merited than there are instruments to go 'round.

Pay your bills tomorrow and thus get the coupons; again, the Gazette-News will give 500 with each $1.50 paid on subscription. Bear in mind the contest closes tomorrow night.

She is buttoned up the back (perhaps by a husband thinking language too vigorous for the Daily News columns) and around her neck she wears a section of barbed wire covered with lace and such like jim-cracks.

"On her head she wears, if complexion demands it, a blond haystack of hair, a Mary Garden coiffure, with whole litters of rodents snugly nestled within, and surmonting all this a superstructure and dome with rings which make the inhabitants of Saturn green with jealousy Do not mistake it for Carl Bates' dirigible aeroplane for it is an Anna Held sailor.

"She is swathed in a gown like an Indian papoose and on the ends of her feet are dabs of patent leather. She walks on stilt-like heels with the expertness of a tight rope dancer. She throws forward her thoracic anatomy in walking and in order to maintain her aquilibrium bulges correspondingly posteriorly."

It is quite the correct caper in top-notch swelldom to wear an enormous ring on the little finger of either hand. This ring usually carries a stone, preferably a jade or lapis lazuli about the size of an Ohio valley buckeye. This fad will encourage an abnormal growth of the little finger but what's the difference so long as it's the style? It may become popular, if they become painful to wear on the fingers for girls to use sandals and toeless hosiery and transfer these lapis lazuli and jade ornaments to the toes. No telling.

Accompanying this "dream" down Beach street may be observed Algernon. "Algy" himself isn't to be snickered at for his make-up. He is diked out in all the colors of a chorus girl at a spring opening. A gay white college hat sits jauntily back over the crown of his cocoanut, and his freshly shampooed curls are parted in the middle like an Englishman's name. He wears a broad, seductive smile.

He wears a dog-eared collar which stands out like a Fair Haven Sharpie coming wing and wing before the wind. An immaculate white neck-tie flutters over his shirt front like a flag of truce while a double-breasted vest, studded with ten-thousand diminutive shamrock figures in deep green, is framed in by a checkered suit so loud you can hear it coming from the Prince George to South bridge, way above the popping of the Red Devil as the R. D. turns the corner by W. C. Smith's letter dispensary.

His trousers are cut bow-legged on the outside and rolled up at the bottom so as to exhibit his barber-pole socks; twisted-toed sorrel shoes No. 9 with a whole coil of haberhashery in shoestrings fit him out at the ground end while a number six hat is too big for the other end.

A delicately perfumed linen handkerchief with Algy's initial is set to music in an upper-story coat pocket, and all this is free, too; you don't have to pay a red penny to ogle the pair as they move jauntily by.

O, girls, why will you rig yourselves out so ridiculously? And, why, O, why pair off with such hair-brained nincompoops as Algermon?

Madam, that laryngitis you have is caused from the choker collars you've been wearing. It's good they're on the wane Those stiff, high, unyielding collars have injured your throat and added to your nervousness. It isn't the throat specialist and the osteopath you need; it's common-sense collars, fresh air, sunshine, out door recreation.

No, my lady, it isn't the state of the atmosphere or inherited weakness of the ankle that is torturing your feet. French heels, standing you on your toes, have sprouted corns and started bunions and your feet are threatened with fallen arches, a foot uglier than that of a monkey. You don't need a chiropodist; all you want is to get back to nature's patter.

You're no "spring chicken," but it isn't age that is making your hair fall out. It is "ratting," "puffing," "marceling," etc.

The weight and warmth in this mild climate of this enormous artificial headgear has a fatal effect on the scalp, and if the fashion holds much longer there wont be enough of the natural article left to hitch the haystack of artificial goods on to.

The goddess of fashion is cruel and remorseless, and her faithful devotees are staggering about in torturing foot gear, strangulation collars, straight lacing that invites tumors, with top pieces which look like walking flower gardens or an approaching ostrich farm. But with all these freaks and fancies she is, and always will be, "woman, lovely woman." She will always be loved and courted, high heel or no heel, big sleeve or no sleeve big hat or barehead, strangulation collar or decollete. Whenever the "dream" sweeps gracefully down street "Algy" will be there to whisper the silly little nothings as he has since Adam told Eve she was the "peachiest" girl in the Garden.

Some of you tourists, who have been separated recently from scadions of your good coin have an idea that Florida, as a tourist squeezer, is in a class all by herself.

This shows your unsophisticatedness; you haven't been "all over." Going to the Seattle exposition, are you? They will put you wise.

Try California one season and you'll think better of Florida, financially, meteorologically and otherwise.

In confirmation of this statement here is a closing paragraph from a man too well known in Daytona to permit the use of his name. His name has never been proposed for membership in Mr. Roosevelt's "Ananias Club." He is speaking of the tourist crop:

"It is usually the best crop we have in the southern part of the State and while Florida may be well organized to gather their annual crop, I am sure there is no better organization anywhere in the world to separate the tourist from his money than in Southern California. It is rather trying on the Californian to be taken for an Eastern tourist, and have the hotel rates and everything else doubled so that it is a constant argument to convince the proprietors than he belongs in this country, and is entitled to the consideration due a member of the "Brotherhood of Grafters."

Will Spend the Winters Here.

E. M. Holman, who recently sold his residence property, on Fairview avenue, will leave for the North, accompanied by Mrs. Holman, in about a week. Mrs. Holman will go to Worcester, Mass., their former home, and Mr. Holman to Dunkirk, N. Y., where he expects to embark in the jewelry business, in which he has had over twenty years experience. Albert Holman will also go North about April 1st to attend the Philadelphia College. Mr. Holman will still call Daytona his home and make a practice of spending his winters here. He intends to build a fine, modern house boat and spend much of his time here in cruising, but will keep up apartments somewhere in the city to which he can return at any time. Mr. Holman came here broken down in health from overwork, but the balmy climate coupled with an active outdoor life has put him on his feet, and he now feels equal to taking up business again.

High School Still In Lead.

Looks As If Impossible To Keep Boys And Girls From Getting The Music Box.

The big racers have appeared in sight down the home stretch and there're bunched. At this distance they promise a neck and neck finish, that is, many of them. The Daytona High School has too great a lead for anybody to hope to overtake her. She is in a class all by herself and will pass the judge's stand before the others are in speaking distance.

It is very interesting to watch the bursts of speed exhibited first by one contestant, then by another. Last week the Elks were speeding by everything as if their course had been lubricated for their especial benefit.

This week the Rifles are shooting by everything but the High School, and unless the Elks are playing a waiting game and are massing a big stock of coupons punched through the thousand mark, ready to run in at the very last, the gun-bearers in orange and drab uniform will finish second in the big derby.

The pyrotechnic display touched off in yesterday's Daily News by the Kingston school infused new life and interest into the contest, but unhappily for the Kingston boys and girls they did not follow up with another record breaker today; had they done so they would have changed the program at Wilmans opera house from vaudeville to high tragedy.

As it is Wilmans may finish in the lighter role.

The announcement that Company K has passed the 2,000,000 mark will probably come as a surprise, even to some of the Rifle boys themselves.

Well, it is an interesting finish and more pianos are merited than there are instruments to go 'round.

Pay your bills tomorrow and thus get the coupons; again, the Gazette-News will give 500 with each $1.50 paid on subscription. Bear in mind the contest closes tomorrow night.

*As I am compelled to build my new hotel elsewhere, I offer my property located in Seabreeze, Fla., at bargain prices. See Conrad Real Estate Agency. E. L. Potter. 82-tf.

Seabreeze News

SEABREEZE, March 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Thos. F. Cordis entertained at whist at their beach cottage Friday afternoon of last week the following friends: Mr. and Mrs. Fogg, Mr. and Mrs. Kreggery, Dr. and Mrs. Esch, Mr. and Mrs. Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, and their guests, Edw. Morris, of Springfield, Mass.

Wm. B. Hatch left Saturday morning on a business trip to his home, Ypsilanti, Mich., to be gone about ten days.

Kit Tanner, of the blue grass region is here on a visit with friends, guest at Miss Russell's boarding house.

Col. Taylor and wife, of Memphis, who have spent most of the winter on Ocean boulevard, left Sunday for their home. They declare Seabreeze is the most delightful of all winter resorts.

Miss Harvey, one of the charming tourist young ladies, left Sunday afternoon for her home at Covington, Ky.

C. M. Carrier, C. F. Burgman and Misses Burgman and Hatch spent Sunday forenoon at DeLand, making the trip by motor car.

About forty tourists left the peninsula Sunday, and almost as many came by on the afternoon train. It is a mistake that a majority of our tourist friends miss the enjoyment of one of our prettiest months, April, all that we can say to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mrs. Phillips and daughter, Miss Nellie Phillips, of Atlanta, left Sunday afternoon for St. Augustine en route home. Mrs. Phillips was in very bad health when she came to Seabreeze three months ago, and is now a well woman. She enjoyed the fishing very much and made some fine records.

Dr. Mayes preached his usually interesting sermon at "the little church around the corner" on Glenview boulevard Sunday afternoon. Dr. Everaden, as Sunday school superintendent, has built up a good attendance among the [illegible] young people. Billie Davis is secretary, and reported $1 [illegible], which is creditable for the size of the school.

Doings at Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, March 30.—Mrs. Fuge and daughter, who stopped with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reed on the river front for a few days during the races, left Saturday for their home, at St. Joseph, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ainsworth will close their winter home on the Halifax, Friday, and leave for Illinois.

Miss Falcon came up from Melbourne the latter part of last week for a few days on the beach, and was a guest at Pinehurst.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Speers and son, of Varnell, Ga., spent several days at The Pinehurst, seaside home.

William Ronald, who came over from Rollins College to enjoy the races, left Monday on the return trip.

Thomas Oyama has let the contract for a two-story business block on the ground recently purchased of Dr. VanValzah, on Seabreeze avenue, adjoining his concrete building. Seabreeze avenue is bound to be a good business street in the near future. It already affords two good groceries, a book and gentleman's clothing store, millinery establishment and bakery.

The students of Seabreeze-Daytona Beach public school are working zealous for second place in the Bush & Safford Piano Contest, and the various reports are watched with eager interest.

There was a full attendance at the M. E. Church Sunday, but the tide has turned northward, and from this time to the close of the season the church and postoffice will show a diminishing number, and the "vacant chair" will be greatly in evidence. The peninsula had a fine season, and anticipates a fair summer season. Better railroad connections would make this the most popular summer resort in Florida.

DAYTONA BEACH, March 30.—Mrs Page and daughter, who stopped with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reed on the river front for a few days during the races, left Saturday for their home, at St. Joseph, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ainsworth will close their winter home on the Halifax, Friday, and leave for Illinois.

Miss Falcom came up from Melbourne the latter part of last week for a few days on the beach, and was a guest at Pinehurst.

Mr. and Mrs. Chasles L. Speers and son, of Varnell, Ga., spent several days at The Pinehurst, enroute home.

William Ronald, who came over from Rollins Collins to enjoy the races, left Monday on the return trip.

Thomas Oyama has let the contract for a two-story business block on the ground recently purchased of Dr. VanValzah, on Seabreeze avenue, adjoining his concrete building. Seabreeze avenue is bound to be a good business street in the near future. It already affords two good groceries, a book and gentleman's clothing store, millinery establishment and bakery.

The students of Seabreeze-Daytona Beach public school are working zealous for second place in the Bush & Safford Piano Contest, and the various reports are watched with eager interest.

There was a full attendance at the M. E. Church Sunday, but the tide has turned northward, and from this time to the close of the season the church and postoffice will show a diminishing number, and the "vacant chair" will be greatly in evidence. The peninsula had a fine season, and anticipates a fair summer season. Better railroad connections would make this the most popular summer resort in Florida.

THE THIEVES OF JAPAN

Ingenious Rascals, Among the Cleverest in the World.

ONE OF THEIR FOXY TRICKS.

The Method by Which They Steal the Shoes Off the Women's Feet In the Public Streets—How a Miser's Money Chest Was Bared and Looted.

An Englishman entered a first class car of one of the railroad trains that run between Tokyo and Yokohama. He was a little red in the face and apparently ruffled in temper. He had just discovered that his pocket had been picked in the station, and he exclaimed bitterly against thieves in general and Japanese thieves in particular.

An American who had been engaged in Yokohama for a number of years noticed the Englishman's quandary. Turning round to me, he said: "Our English friend seems a bit excited. If he growls at having his pocket picked, what would he say if he had the shoes stolen off his feet?"

"That is clearly an impossibility," I laughed.

"I don't know about that," he returned. "It may not happen with our western style of shoes, button and lace; but, all the same, I have heard and I know it to be a fact that the sandals of Japanese have been stolen off their feet."

"Well, how is it done?" I asked.

"Very simply," he answered. "Suppose a Japanese woman who has a particularly fine pair of lacquered clogs is one of a great crowd that is watching a passing procession or a religious celebration of priests in front of a temple. Along comes an expert pickpocket—or pickfoot, I don't know which you want to call him. His keen eyes, fastened on the ground, discover those desirable clogs. Thereupon he makes up his mind that he wants them.

"The first thing she knows the owner of the clogs feels an unpleasant sensation in her left foot. Naturally she wants to stop it, and quite mechanically and almost absently she slips her right foot out of its clog and begins to scratch that uncomfortable spot in her left foot with her toes. She feels relieved. Forgetting all about the incident, she becomes absorbed in the spectacle again. Soon the irritation crosses over to a similar spot in her right foot. Absently, once more, she slides her left foot out of its clog and begins to soothe the troublesome spot with her toes."

"The thief was responsible for the irritation and walked off with the clogs," I said.

"Certainly. The rascal caused the trouble with a bit of straw or wire," he returned.

"But you would think that the moment the foot of the victim touched the ground its clog would be missed and the thief would run the chance of being caught before the second could be stolen."

"Oh, that is one of the cleverest parts of the trick," explained my friend. "The thief comes supplied with a pair of cheap wooden clogs costing but a few sen, and the owner of the lacquered footgear goes away with them and never notices the difference, at least not until it is too late to profit from the knowledge."

"Are Japanese thieves so very clever, then?" I asked.

"Oh, very!" he returned. "Some time ago I heard of one of them who used to carry a handful of watch rings to fit into the stems of all sorts of watches that he might come by dishonestly. Once he lifted a watch in a train, and the owner, missing it, but not knowing who the thief was, set up a shout and had a policeman summoned. The police, to satisfy the victim, insisted that every one in the train show his watch. When the turn of the thief came he drew out of his pocket the stolen timepiece, and its original possessor, not recognizing it on account of the changed ring, missed an easy chance to regain his property.

"It was the same fellow, I believe," he continued, "who managed by the expenditure of a little money to have himself enrolled under different names in the various lists of different towns. When arrested he gave one of these various names to the authorities. The police, on looking up the record of the name given, were unable to find any black marks against it. Thus he always managed to escape with a light punishment for his first offense, committed I don't know how many times.

"But I don't know that any of these fellows were as clever as another thief I heard about. You know many of the Japanese sleep on a sort of bed made up on the floor, called a feuton. Well, an old Japanese miser kept his money in the house, concealed in a small chest of drawers. In the daytime he never took his eyes off his treasure, and at night he had his feuton pushed tightly against it, so no robber could get at his money without awakening him.

"For a long time a gang of thieves had been puzzling their brains to find a way of stealing the hoard without being detected. Well, on a certain night one of them entered the house and gently, little by little, pulled the bed on which the miser lay away from the chest of drawers. Then he quickly emptied the drawers of their currency, shoved the bed back to its original position and made his escape.

"Several days passed before the unfortunate miser detected his loss."—Chicago News.

The Magnet.

"Yes, she advertised for a husband and got 2,710 replies."

"Gracious! She must have advertised herself as very beautiful."

"No, she didn't. She just said she had $700 in the bank."—Kansas City Independent.

The Modern Seven Wonders

Daytona's Incomparable Ocean Beach.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.

Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy veranda's looking out upon her bosom, gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and cool and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon her waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pounce a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon her beautiful surface. Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies, and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live-oaks extend their giant arms across this magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottage. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering "What next?"

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give to Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the little finishing touches which have brought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage, the entire city becomes a great park.

And as for pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? Till some unheard-of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Fruits.

Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "squirrels and flowers, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare "goober" there is a bunny ready to come out and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and gnaw into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers! Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round. In one yard roses of variegated hues predominate, another has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane.

The birds fit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their urdens of luscious golden globes.

The Fastest Autos And The Finest Out.

Here is where world's records for speed are broken with every recurring season. Autos the biggest, the fastest and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousand flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene. You will probably catch the spirit and when you do the roads and the beach are yours. The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down in your wallet only for coin for the auto and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

We are overstocked on Photographic Views, and in order to reduce the stock
we will sell all Mounted and Unmounted Views

ORIENTAL RUGS.

Made to Resemble the Antiques by Chemical Washings.

The United States buys annually many thousand dollars' worth of what are known to the profession as washed rugs. Brightly colored oriental rugs sometimes are washed with a solution of chloride of lime, a treatment which partly bleaches the colors and imparts a soft appearance to the rug.

This chemical treatment is a process of washing which produces the effect of age and a peculiar sheen to the surface, which is pointed out by the unscrupulous dealer as a proof of superior quality. The fact is that the process of washing as described invariably weakens and in some instances destroys the materials of the rug.

The progressive effect of the chemicals on the materials in the rug is this: The chlorine gas contained in the chloride of lime attracts oxygen and moisture from the air, by which muriatic acid is formed. This eats away the vitals of the wool. Sooner or later the wool and cotton in the rug become brittle and thus weaken the warp and deteriorate the wool.

When this deterioration is complete the pile of the rug may be swept away by the ordinary process of sweeping, and the warp, which is the foundation of the rug, becomes so weak that holes appear here and there, and soon the rug is worthless.

It not seldom happens that a Persian rug is too glaring in some bright hues, perhaps red, and is not salable. The unscrupulous dealer will subject the rug to a series of washings in chemically prepared water. In this way he turns out a rug possessing a soft antique sheen that is truly captivating and finds a ready purchaser at an advanced price.—Chicago Tribune.

Intuition.

"What become of that rich uncle of yours?"

"I think he's dead, but I don't know."

"Gee! How did he lose all his money?"—Cleveland Leader.

THE THIEVES OF JAPAN

Ingenious Rascals, Among the Cleverest in the World.

ONE OF THEIR FOXY TRICKS.

An Englishman entered a first class car of one of the railroad trains that run between Tokyo and Yokohama. He was a little red in the face and apparently ruffled in temper. He had just discovered that his pocket had been picked in the station, and he exclaimed bitterly against thieves in general and Japanese thieves in particular.

An American who had been engaged in Yokohama for a number of years noticed the Englishman's quandary. Turning round to me, he said: "Our English friend seems a bit excited. If he growls at having his pocket picked, what would he say if he had the shoes stolen off his feet?"

"That is clearly an impossibility," I laughed.

"I don't know about that," he returned. "It may not happen with our western style of shoes, button and lace; but, all the same, I have heard and I know it to be a fact that the sandals of Japanese have been stolen off their feet."

"Well, how is it done?" I asked.

"Very simply," he answered. "Suppose a Japanese woman who has a particularly fine pair of lacquered clogs is one of a great crowd that is watching a passing procession or a religious celebration of priests in front of a temple. Along comes an expert pickpocket—or pickfoot, I don't know which you want to call him. His keen eyes, fastened on the ground, discover those desirable clogs. Thereupon he makes up his mind that he wants them.

"The first thing she knows the owner of the clogs feels an unpleasant sensation in her left foot. Naturally she wants to stop it, and quite mechanically and almost absently she slips her right foot out of its clog and begins to scratch that uncomfortable spot in her left foot with her toes. She feels relieved. Forgetting all about the incident, she becomes absorbed in the spectacle again. Soon the irritation crosses over to a similar spot in her right foot. Absently, once more, she slides her left foot out of its clog and begins to soothe the troublesome spot with her toes."

"The thief was responsible for the irritation and walked off with the clogs," I said.

"Certainly. The rascal caused the trouble with a bit of straw or wire," he returned.

"But one would think that the moment the foot of the victim touched the ground its clog would be missed and the thief would run the chance of being caught before the second could be stolen."

"Oh, that is one of the cleverest parts of the trick," explained my friend. "The thief comes supplied with a pair of cheap wooden clogs costing but a few sen, and the owner of the lacquered footgear goes away with them and never notices the difference, at least not until it is too late to profit from the knowledge."

"Are Japanese thieves so very clever, then?" I asked.

"Oh, very!" he returned. "Some time ago I heard of one of them who used to carry a handful of watch rings to fit into the stems of all sorts of watches that he might come by dishonestly. Once he lifted a watch in a train, and the owner, missing it, but not knowing who the thief was, set up a shout and had a policeman summoned. The police, to satisfy the victim, insisted that every one in the train show his watch. When the turn of the thief came he drew out of his pocket the stolen timepiece, and its original possessor, not recognizing it on account of the changed ring, missed an easy chance to regain his property.

"It was the same fellow, I believe," he continued, "who managed by the expenditure of a little money to have himself enrolled under different names in the various lists of different towns. When arrested he gave one of these various names to the authorities. The police, on looking up the record of the name given, were unable to find any black marks against it. Thus he always managed to escape with a light punishment for his first offense, committed I don't know how many times.

"But I don't know that any of these fellows were as clever as another thief I heard about. You know many of the Japanese sleep on a sort of bed made up on the floor, called a feuton. Well, an old Japanese miser kept his money in the house, concealed in a small chest of drawers. In the daytime he never took his eyes off his treasure, and at night he had his feuton pushed tightly against it, so no robber could get at his money without awakening him.

"For a long time a gang of thieves had been puzzling their brains to find a way of stealing the hoard without being detected. Well, on a certain night one of them entered the house and gently, little by little, pulled the bed on which the miser lay away from the chest of drawers. Then he quickly emptied the drawers of their currency, shoved the bed back to its original position and made his escape.

"Several days passed before the unfortunate miser detected his loss."—Chicago News.

The Magnet.

"Yes, she advertised for a husband and got 2,700 replies."

"Gracious! She must have advertised herself as very beautiful."

"No, she didn't. She just said she had $700 in the bank."—Kansas City Independent.

Daytona's Incomparable Ocean Beach.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.

Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy veranda's looking out upon her bosom, gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon her waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon her beautiful surface Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies, and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live-oaks extend their giant arms across this magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

Surpassing Beauty ot Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottage. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them,and as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering "What next?"

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give to Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the little finishing touches which have brought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage, the entire city becomes a great park

And as for pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? Till some unheard-of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Fruits.

Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "squirrels and flowers, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare "goober" there is a bunny ready to come out and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and gnaw into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers! Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round. In one yard roses of variagated hues predominate, another has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes.

The Fastest Autos And The Finest Out.

Here is where world's records for speed are broken with every recurring season. Autos the biggest, the fastest and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousand flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene. You will probably catch the spirit and when you do the roads and the beach are yours. The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down in your wallet only for coin for the auto and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

ORIENTAL RUGS.

Made to Resemble the Antiques by Chemical Washings.

The United States buys annually many thousand dollars' worth of what are known to the profession as washed rugs. Brightly colored oriental rugs sometimes are washed with a solution of chloride of lime, a treatment which partly bleaches the colors and imparts a soft appearance to the rug.

This chemical treatment is a process of washing which produces the effect of age and a peculiar sheen to the surface, which is pointed out by the unscrupulous dealer as a proof of superior quality. The fact is that the process of washing as described invariably weakens and in some instances destroys the materials of the rug.

The progressive effect of the chemicals on the materials in the rug is this: The chlorine gas contained in the chloride of lime attracts oxygen and moisture from the air, by which muriatic acid is formed. This eats away the vitals of the rug. Sooner or later the wool and cotton in the rug become brittle and thus weaken the warp and deteriorate the wool.

When this deterioration is complete the pile of the rug may be swept away by the ordinary process of sweeping, and the warp, which is the foundation of the rug, becomes so weak that holes appear here and there, and soon the rug is worthless.

It not seldom happens that a Persian rug is too staring in some bright hue, perhaps red, and is not salable. The unscrupulous dealer will subject the rug to a series of washings in chemically prepared water. In this way he turns out a rug possessing a soft antique sheen that is truly captivating and finds a ready purchaser at an advanced price.—Chicago Tribune.

FUGITIVE SPAR BUOYS

Rescuing These Stray "Sticks" Is Perilous Work.

SIGNBOARDS OF CHANNELS.

How These Mariners' Guides Are Anchored and How They Sometimes Break Away and Are Hunted Down by the Lighthouse Service Tenders.

When the winter gales begin to blow, the tenders of the lighthouse service turn their stems toward northern seas to hunt stray spar buoys. Of all the work of the coast patrol this, perhaps, is the most exposed to danger. Pulling these "signboards" out of the sea or putting them over side is like "yanking" spiles with a ton derrick on a heaving platform.

Although passengers in the boats that ply the waters of New York harbor, Long Island sound and other waterways along the coast see many spar buoys, they give them little thought. With the man at the wheel it is different. Color, shape and size give him volumes of information, and he looks upon the spar buoy as an invaluable guide.

In the government inventories they are listed as "sticks," although they are sometimes sixty feet long. They are anchored in the bed of a river or harbor channel, their "up ends" painted in such a way as to indicate to the observer the formation of the bottom. On the margin of government charts explanatory notes tell one that vessels approaching a harbor from the sea should leave red buoys with even numbers on the right and black, with odd numbers on the left side of channels. Black and white striped buoys, the stripes running perpendicularly, mean an obstruction in the channel, with room to get by on either side. If balls or cages ornament the "up ends" it means a turning point, the color and number indicating the course.

These sticks are put down with heavy iron anchors and sometimes great stone weights. One would suppose that so fixed they never could get away, but they do, and it is a job to find them. Ice floes break their cables and sometimes crush the sticks; storms pull them loose, and ships in the fog or darkness foul them and tear them from their hold on the bottom. Not infrequently ships use them as moorings, although this is forbidden.

There are instances where the anchors of a spar buoy have been secure enough to hold against ice pressure and in a narrow channel cause a dangerous jam. But such cases are few, for when this happens the weight of the ice usually becomes so great as to force the buoy under, and the pack slides on.

If the ice pack gets under the buoy so as to lift it there is only one result—the parting of the cable. Then off starts the spar upon a journey maybe of thousands of miles, perhaps of only one or two. It may fetch up on the nearest shore, and it may drift to the coast of Europe or into the southern seas. On the Irish coast today is one which traveled there in six weeks from New York harbor. It was presented to the British government by the United States and now floats off the coast on which it stopped after its long Atlantic journey.

If it is a long chase to find the stray buoys it is even a more difficult task to recover the anchors left behind by the fugitive spars. Tenders that sail out of the harbor have a derrick and tackle rigged in front of the pilot house, with a donkey engine to lift and pull. The location of every buoy is marked on the charts to a degree, so it is not difficult to find the desired position. The serious business is dragging for the anchor and after grappling with it to hoist it aboard ship. Here the donkey engine comes into play. Another hazard is to pull a spar buoy aboard. If a sea happens to be running the captain of the tender has to use extreme care. Should a big roller get under him and suddenly tighten the lifting chains either they would give way or the weight would come up too fast, the crew in either case being placed in jeopardy of their lives.

ing the risk these men run as all in the day's work. To them a job in a seaway on a lee shore is regarded as no more monotonous task than repainting a row of buoys on land.—New York Post.

WM. B. McCOY SHANGHAIED.

The big ship Constitution started this morning on her last trip of the season for Palm Beach. Wm. B. McCoy, father of the jolly McCoy Brothers, owners of the Constitution, was invited to make the last run. His wife had decided to go and was aboard. Mr. McCoy was inveigled aboard and induced to go into a state room to look at W. F. McCoy's new pattern Winchester, of long range. While interested in the gun the door was slammed shut and locked, anchor weighed and the boat off, W. B. McCoy shanghaied.

Down about the Lagoon they will unlock the state room and give the old gentleman the laugh and it is hoped he will take the joke good naturedly and not behave in a manner necessitating his being put in chains.

Winning a Violin.

The way M. Ysaye, the great violinist, became the owner of a Guarnerius violin dated 1742 was thus quaintly told by himself:

"The Guarnerius was bought in Paris by a pupil of mine, a charming young woman. I envied her the violin, and fate gave it to me. I teach this pupil, and by and by I meet her sister, a most lovely young woman, with whom I fall in love straightway and marry. Soon I go to my sister-in-law, who was my pupil, and say to her:

"'It is time you stop fooling with violin. You will never learn how to play it.' I take the liberty of a big brother, but she do not like it for long time. At last she succumb to my experience and wisdom, and she stops playing. Then I say grandiloquently:

"'I will take the Guarnerius, 1742.' I take it, and that is how the violin came into the possession of Ysaye."

FUGITIVE SPAR BUOYS

Rescuing These Stray "Sticks" Is Perilous Work.

SIGNBOARDS OF CHANNELS.

How These Mariners' Guides Are Anchored and How They Sometimes Break Away and Are Hunted Down by the Lighthouse Service Tenders.

When the winter gales begin to blow, the tenders of the lighthouse service turn their stems toward northern seas to hunt stray spar buoys. Of all the work of the coast patrol this, perhaps, is the most exposed to danger. Pulling these "signboards" out of the sea or putting them over side is like "yanking" spiles with a ton derrick on a heaving platform.

Although passengers in the boats that ply the waters of New York harbor, Long Island sound and other waterways along the coast see many spar buoys, they give them little thought. With the man at the wheel it is different. Color, shape and size give him volumes of information, and he looks upon the spar buoy as an invaluable guide.

In the government inventories they are listed as "sticks," although they are sometimes sixty feet long. They are anchored in the bed of a river or harbor channel, their "up ends" painted in such a way as to indicate to the observer the formation of the bottom. On the margin of government charts explanatory notes tell one that vessels approaching a harbor from the sea should leave red buoys with even numbers on the right and black, with odd numbers on the left side of channels. Black and white striped buoys, the stripes running perpendicularly, mean an obstruction in the channel, with room to get by on either side. If balls or cages ornament the "up ends" it means a turning point, the color and number indicating the course.

These sticks are put down with heavy iron anchors and sometimes great stone weights. One would suppose that so fixed they never could get away, but they do, and it is a job to find them. Ice floes break their cables and sometimes crush the sticks; storms pull them loose, and ships in the fog or darkness foul them and tear them from their hold on the bottom. Not infrequently ships use them as moorings, although this is forbidden.

There are instances where the anchors of a spar buoy have been secure enough to hold against ice pressure and in a narrow channel cause a dangerous jam. But such cases are few, for when this happens the weight of the ice usually becomes so great as to force the buoy under, and the pack slides on.

If the ice pack gets under the buoy so as to lift it there is only one result—the parting of the cable. Then off starts the spar upon a journey maybe of thousands of miles, perhaps of only one or two. It may fetch up on the nearest shore, and it may drift to the coast of Europe or into the southern seas. On the Irish coast today is one which traveled there in six weeks from New York harbor. It was presented to the British government by the United States and now floats off the coast on which it stopped after its long Atlantic journey.

If it is a long chase to find the stray buoys it is even a more difficult task to recover the anchors left behind by the fugitive spars. Tenders that sail out of the harbor have a derrick and tackle rigged in front of the pilot house, with a donkey engine to lift and pull. The location of every buoy is marked on the charts to a degree, so it is not difficult to find the desired position. The serious business is dragging for the anchor and after grappling with it to hoist it aboard ship. Here the donkey engine comes into play. Another hazard is to pull a spar buoy aboard. If a sea happens to be running the captain of the tender has to use extreme care. Should a big roller get under him and suddenly tighten the lifting chains either they would give way or the weight would come up too fast, the crew in either case being placed in jeopardy of their lives.

But the risk these men run is all in the day's work. To them a job in a seaway on a lee shore is regarded as no more monotonous task than repainting a row of buoys on land.—New York Post.

WM. B. McCOY SHANGHAIED.

The big ship Constitution started this morning on her last trip of the season for Palm Beach. Wm. B. McCoy, father of the jolly McCoy Brothers, owners of the Constitution, was invited to make the last run. His wife had decided to go and was aboard. Mr. McCoy was inveigled aboard and induced to go into a state room to look at W. F McCoy's new pattern Winchester, of long range. While interested in the gun the door was slammed shut and locked, anchor weighed and the boat off, W B. McCoy shanghaied.

Down about the Lagoon they will unlock the state room and give the old gentleman the laugh and it is hoped he will take the joke good naturedly and not behave in a manner necessitating his being put in chains.

Winning a Violin.

The way M. Ysaye, the great violinist, became the owner of a Guarnerius violin dated 1742 was thus quaintly told by himself:

"The Guarnerius was bought in Paris by a pupil of mine, a charming young woman. I envied her the violin, and fate gave it to me. I teach this pupil, and by and by I meet her sister, a most lovely young woman, with whom I fall in love straightway and marry. Soon I go to my sister-in-law, who was my pupil, and say to her:

"'It is time you stop fooling with violin. You will never learn how to play it.' I take the liberty of a big brother, but she do not like it for long time. At last she succumb to my experience and wisdom, and she stops playing. Then I say grandiloquently:

"'I will take the Guarnerius, 1742.' I take it, and that is how the violin came into the possession of Ysaye."
